

Project Title: Urban Foraging

Hosted By: SHARP AND SOUR

Project Introduction:

Economic inequality, the exponential growth of population, our disconnection from the source of our food and the rapid expansion of cities will only get worse. So what if these issues extended to a point where the only source of food available was the one that grows within the city limits?

About Organisation:

We are a multidisciplinary design studio and consultancy focused on food and futures. Our work bridges the gap between speculative and affirmative design. The driving force behind our work is creating thought-provoking ideas to challenge long-held beliefs.

Our core philosophy has always been to go beyond the status quo and question everything around us. We like to turn things upside down, break them apart and put them back together in a completely new way. We are SHARP AND SOUR. Hi!
