Project Title: The Essence of Time

Hosted By: Sixty-twelve clocks

Project Introduction:

What happens if you strip a clock to its bare essence? That is what the designer of this clock did. Removing the clock face and hands only leaves two rings to show the time. What stays is a minimalistic design that can be read as any other analog clock and fits in all kinds of interiors.

About Organisation:

Sixty-twelve clocks is a trademark of ErwinDesign. Based in 'creative hotspot' Plan-B in Eindhoven, Erwin designs and builds his products. Erwin combines his education as electronics engineer and 25 years experience in machine design with an interest in graphic and product design to build his products.
