

Project Title: Envisions Hackathon

Hosted By: Envisions

Project Introduction:

The Envisions Hackathon, which will take place during Dutch Design Week 2020, will give a dynamic look into how we work and collaborate as a team. Every day, a group of Envisionaires will react on objects from modern life, such as part of a car or a household appliance.

About Organisation:

Envisions is a designlab, uniting over 20 multidisciplinary creatives with a shared fascination for experimental material research. In collaboration with renowned industry partners, Envisions critically re-envisions current processes of production, focussing primarily on the path leading up to the end product. Through this process, Envisions offers the industry new perspectives on their materials, techniques and products and facilitate new visions that will shape the future of tomorrow.
