

Project Title: Stena

Hosted By: Juliana Maurer

Project Introduction:

Stena is a hand-blown glass carafe which makes use of the thermal function of soapstone.

About Organisation:

Juliana Maurer is a multidisciplinary artist and designer driven by a curiosity for unconventional interactions with materials. Her approach is a mixture of controlled and uncontrolled processes to create a space for unexpected outcomes. Always with the focus on the material as the main actor and guide. She combs her surroundings, nature and everyday life in order to find a surprising exchange between surfaces, materiality and shape.
