Project Name: Dingen als huisgenoten/ Things as housmates

Project Introduction:

With my design I start from the characters and needs of the objects. In order to communicate what they desire. In this way it is no longer about our desires, but about what the objects want. In order to make them less replaceable and more valuable.

Project Introduction:

We live in a society where everything is done quickly and efficiently. As a result, everything becomes superficial and we no longer appreciate it. With my work, I want to inspire people that things don't have to be done quickly and therefore make the value of the material clearly visible.

As a designer, I experience space as a living thing. I try to create a new being of space with its own unpredictability, essentiality and new mysterious world,. Can't this being with all its new chaos offer us a new view of ourselves?

Project Introduction:

Air and breathing are not immediately visible and tangible, they are there. Breathing is natural for most ,people. Our air quality? We don't see it.

As a designer, I strive for breathing space that is good for body and mind, for an innovative view of healthy architecture.

Project Name: CALM-IN

Project Introduction:

There are too many things filling our minds every day. No time for thinking about our own. We all want a piece of peace. No time to relax, no time to reflect, no time to think about our spirits. We all need a piece of peace.
